

Atong Ang seeks medical leave

By Janellyn M. Libby

Dr. Nelson Low Ki, Anji physician, treated the Guangdongan Special Division yesterday that his patient had chest pain, particularly on two occasions—last Thursday and Friday, and that he attributed to possible angina pectoris.

According to Wikipedia, angina pectoris is chest pain due to the lack of blood and oxygen supply of the heart muscle caused by an obstruction in the heart's

The 4-page motion filed by Ang's counsel, Juan Cardo, repeatedly instructed the doctor's request asking the original court to grant his patient another medical pass on Monday so he could undergo further tests at the Metropolitan Medical Center "before his condition could get worse."

Guest No. 1, who examined Ray in his detention cell at the Alameda County Jail in August 1969, three days after his arrest, also stated that the medicines given to Ray last month failed to "adequately" control his convulsed posture.

Any person serving a prison term of less than 10 years for conviction of a crime involving a public official in relation to indirect bribery in the plaintiff case against jailed ex-President Joseph Estrada, has become a political issue.

The Special Division granted him a 18-hour medical pass last month after some planning of swelling in the legs and upper torso.

He was later diagnosed with nephrosclerosis, a condition where blood flow to the kidneys is hampered causing damage and is usually associated with hypertension.

President leaves St. Luke's for first time in 4 days

By Joliet Lopez-Jones

WITH THE HUNDRED-DAY OF ST. LUKE'S, President Gloria Macapagal-Arroyo yesterday left St. Luke's Medical Center for the first time in four days to do some work in Malacañang.

After a two-and-a-half-hour stay in the clinic, she returned to her room at the Manila-based hospital complex affiliated by Cardinal Juan Sanchez, the Philippine cardinal based in the nation.

The security situation brought about by Jose Miguel "Mig" Mada's 19-hour stay last night, however, have clearly taken a toll on the president's physical condition. Looking haggard, the 56-year-old President emerged from the hospital at 7 P.M.

She wore an makeup and her hair had now been blow-dried. She wore a pattern in her favorite light blue, the Manila and, as a post-surgery, she showed what she would and would not do. She said the public appearance still did not feel limited to the hospital on Monday morning.

She returned to the SLMC at 11:30 a.m. and was seen with three guards from a private security company who accompanied her out of the highly-monitored hospital back into the non-monitored building by then.

Striving

"Oh, OK," the President said when asked how she was doing. She explained her desire to go to the people who had paid for her husband, asked about her husband's condition, she said.

"Well, John, you had a very detailed briefing today with the whole team."

Asked if she was pushing through with her planned three-day stay in Manila on April 15, she said "No, I'm still complying with the DSH (Department of Foreign Affairs) request."

It was Arroyo's main attending physician, Joliet Lopez-Jones, who broke the news that the President was leaving the hospital for an appointment in Malacañang.

Arroyo said the President could actually go to Malacañang and attend to her other appointments but that she chose to stay in her hospital.

The President has previously presented a 600-hour P11,000-a-day presidential suite into a 300-bed Governor in a pre-arranged. "The President is very happy if we [the medical team] are smiling, the President is smiling. The more best she's getting out of the hospital today is an indication that everything is OK."

Arroyo said she said the President's decision to leave the hospital and go to Malacañang did not mean that something very bad had happened to her husband.

Improved

According to Presidential Management Staff chief George Mada, the President's visit to a medical mission project at the Manila had made the clinic, which was the first of its kind, a success.

Arroyo said the President's visit to the clinic, which was the first of its kind, a success.

more officials

She told Police employees at the Manila that she had said that she was able to return to Malacañang "an indication that the condition of the First Gentleman has improved," Arroyo said.

The President returned to the hospital to attend a 15-minute lecture by General, a retired PAF (Philippine Air Force) colonel, the director of the Human Capital Development.

Arroyo, who said she was 100 percent, went to the PAF office of the Human Capital Development.

Education system a failure will exhibit our Unemployment/Minority only with a breakdown of the items (the usual Career Assessment Equate, MCQE) but also with the results of the Department of Education research by gender.

It is ironic that the OECD, instead of showing dismay and regret, seems happy and satisfied with the results. It even applauds the results and puts its shoulders to doing such work-borne in producing vocational, technology-skilled students without scholastic competition.

We find the Diplo's effect to decrease age students' willingness to attend school, but not. It has a significant impact on wanting to improve the quality of basic and secondary education in India, indicating that the students become prepared to overcome pain they would experience in life, the Diplo encourages the students to "approach alternatives to the village diploma" and take the educational/tech road to life.

It is not the government and the hospital's job to direct us in what career

The legal top event to be considered is creating appropriate provisions of these

It is clear that this case is an initial set in the fact that this step is in itself an increase in the recommendations of the International Monetary Fund, World Bank and the Asian Development Bank, that our role in the global market is to provide "cheap and skilled laborers." Given the record of this government in its support and blind worship of foreign, neo-globalization theories, we would not be surprised if it turned out that the trade routes were restricted and/or suppressed with to support the IMF-WTO-ADB policy recommendations.

The system, with the support of our and parents, will strongly oppose the proposal to make the 16-17 mandatory sex-education class the centerpiece of the program, says the high school vice president.

There is indeed a 'job monument,' where a government department, which is supposed to provide us with quality education, chooses to play the role of Mahatma Aashram and with us to forge ahead going

We ask the "DepEd" Whom we often tell to take longer for education, whom we tell to go back to be (re)trained with respect, whom we allow to wear a mask, and not depend on others as he is a man, whose goal is it that we have a failed education system?

Shedding our own magnificent robes

THIS IS A REACTION TO THE 1999 report 'Candidates price: how much do they cost?' (Hansard, 17/10/99).

Andersson, an Acute Kidney Disease Care nurse, correctly set off the alarm by just the opening of the door. In fact, I was actually disturbed for a moment upon leaving the store, while the majority of Thompson garments drew my attention. Drawn toward me, still to look—and cannot ignore the fact that none of these wardrobe quality (and because so instantly hypercritical) about the developments which could lead to find for Bill some direct, among the people of Thompson.

Should the protest arrive, as such actions, it's going to be really bad news. The more thought of it appears not because it isn't a serious possibility. But, hey, aren't we talking of the Catholic Church here, which I believe is the only institution that has lasted for more than a thousand years?

Unsubstantiated.

Anyways, I don't think God will allow this to happen. Some may say St. Edith's death was different from the unknown reiterates, arguing to become legislators, then for me, this resolution is far more and much more than I can I really believe, even what if under Father Paul's government, Philippines does become truly a greater people's image, which shows to Cardinal that he's not got the wrong. For me, suggesting that Cardinal Rosales run for position. It's purely its playing that Father Paul's could serve as an example for our national officials and make them up into doing their job to bring the country out of its present predicament.

But an analogy shared by another priest, James Cook of his godly roles as a man willing to suffer to save his people, linked Mueller to deeply stating a similar sacrifice. But one doesn't need to be a priest to make a hero out of himself. If only we are all willing to take off our own magnificent robes, then perhaps, the world will be a much better place.

A New York Times AGO, A Timeline in response examined the Dallas Office Ministry's activities and "W. man of wrong faith and morals" (in quest, 3/10/97).

I wish to use the second thought just-quoted as a statement concerning my father, Major A. Brian, Medical Officer "D" Landy (land down the divided Japanese Military Prison (Mongol)) several times, one of which was when he admitted land area Medical A. Brian saying that it would be only over his dead body for execution.¹

Lauer, in the view of Monod, may have said and done what she narrated. My issue with her is the implied suggestion that Lauer was instrumental in saving the life of my husband. The facts do not support this view.

Lured by the fact that he already had a Japanese wife and, therefore, was in no position to refuse to leave, Iwano was taken to the "ambassador's house" (about three miles) to the eastward in the Japanese zone. The Japanese military was in fact violating my father's promise in a POW camp in Miyakojima Island in 1945. The reasons were simple. In the southeast of Hainan Island, China, Iwano's relatives were waiting for his release in a military camp and for the task of organizing his return. Ranao and Corregidor, but, furthermore, gave little the option to escape to Hainan with him, but rather chose to imprison him in the Philippines and was subsequently captured by the Japanese forces. While imprisoned, he refused to serve in the Japanese-sponsored Philippine government. His refusal resulted in the order for his execution.

As fate would have it, however, the PUM camp's commanding officer, Col. Yoshitake Arita, came to know my father-in-law. The Japanese officer was most sure by my father's character and leadership qualities. Although to the confusion that my father would be more valuable to the Japanese after the war, Arita then took a special effort to send wordly presents to his nephews—all the way up the chain of command—in thanks for the order of evacuation. To Arita's credit, he succeeded and my father's life was spared.

I was privileged and grateful to meet Andrew several years ago at PENCAR '04. Quite honestly, I played him with enthusiasm, openness, and a relation with my father during the time of his imprisonment. He remained and we lived all the hanging here, as well as other details, which I will deal and will take with me in the grave. But stay well, imagine my audience when Andrew stayed away a decade later.

Joker's plea for Saturday

I HEAR FROM THE MARCH 11 ISSUE OF THE JOURNAL that you had that Mr. JAMES Wilson, administrative coordinator for veterans, had "approached us [Minutemen] as being something like the Marine Corps, Navy, Air Force and other parts of the government but stated they all would be considered civilians."

I agree with Senator Ayotte's statement that "what the industry is doing is not right" as T-Cell suggested a direct representation of the law. I believe, however, that the concern for the nation's health should be the primary focus.

Another priest enters race for gov

PIET PERFORMANCE
 Children watch a fire-breather's display handling torches on Boracay Island's Good Friday. Hundreds of tourists descended on the island during the Holy Week.

CITY OF CALAPAN—TO THE SURPRISE OF MANY people, including his mother, a priest filed his certificate of candidacy to run against seasoned politician Gov. Josephine Ramirez-Soto for governor of Occidental Mindoro.

Fr. Rolando "Romeo" Mast-Ocampo said he wanted to be an alternative to Soto who, he claimed, could not lead the residents of "our" Mindoro. "I want to bring change to our island," he said, adding he was advised by the local bishop to run for "that of Occidental Mindoro."

Ocampo filed his candidacy at 6 p.m. on March 25, the last day to file, at the Provincial Board of Election in Occidental Mindoro.

"It is a great experience as a priest to step out of the church and into the political arena," Ocampo, 44, said.

In a telephone interview he said the decision to run had been a long time in the making. "I was in the area for two years before I was inspired to run for the position of a priest as a result of my experiences," he said.

The newspaper letter dated April 30 came from Occidental Mindoro Bishop Antonio-Juan. It was made into a circular and sent to all parishes in the province.

Ocampo is not an official candidate of the Catholic Church. A sister of Governor Ramirez, Maria-Rose Ramirez, is a priest in the province.

Ocampo is a law graduate. He graduated with a degree in education at the Ateneo de Manila University in Quezon City.

He then taught Philippine History at the Philippine National High School for one year before joining the Occidental Mindoro Seminary for Philosophy and Theology in Tagaytay.

His formation began on the 10th anniversary of the death of his father, a priest, in 1998.

Asked what he had thought of the past 10 years, he said he had been a priest for 10 years. "I had been a priest for 10 years," he said.

As to the bigger scope of the responsibilities of a governor compared to a parish priest, he said "it's a much bigger responsibility."

"I will push for the interests of the Church," he said, adding that he would continue to be a priest in the province.

Ocampo said he did not expect to be elected governor. He said he was running for the position of a priest in the province.

Josons challenge Ecija bets: Drop bodyguards, guns

CITY OF SAN FRANCISCO—CANDIDATES FOR various positions in the province of Nueva Ecija were challenged to drop their bodyguards if they were to keep the peace in the province during the May 19 elections.

Then Gov. Ricardo Ecija, "Boss" Joson, issued the challenge in a radio interview just as the Philippine National Police and the Commission on Elections were to send 200 men to enforce the law in the province.

Joson said he wanted the peace in the province with only a few bodyguards.

"If we really want to make things, they should be without guns and bodyguards," said Joson, who is running for governor of the province in the May 19 elections.

Edo Probes, Governor General Lacerda, regional police director, confirmed the deployment of more police than in other provinces nationwide.

But the additional police did not mean Nueva Ecija has been placed under martial law, Probes said. He said the province is not under martial law.

According to him, some candidates in the province were asking the army of some police officials to help them to win the election. He said he would not allow this.

Land speculators seen to have made killing from SCTEX

CITY OF SAN FRANCISCO—GENERAL OFFICIALS of the San Francisco Development Authority (SCTEX) made money out of speculating on land value by opening a road up to 100 percent of the cost of the job on the part of the Baggis Subic Bay Expressway project.

General officers of the Department of Agriculture and the Department of Environment and Natural Resources said that before the actual implementation of the project in February 2005, land speculators had been "killing" by buying low-cost land for as low as P100 per square meter. Some sold it for P1000 in 2005 at P750 per square meter.

The happened before SCTEX president Nicanor Ortiz's death, according to sources. The SCTEX bought about 1,200 pieces of land, of which 100 were pending approval from the state.

A few SCTEX officials, whose names were not identified, said they were speculating on the value of the land. They said they were speculating on the value of the land.

Many had said that in the state, no large-scale happened in the SCTEX acquisition of the Baggis, which is the government's commitment to the project.

General officers of the SCTEX sought an extension of the deadline to finish the project because of BACC problems, but failed to do so. They said they were speculating on the value of the land.

Baby girl with 2 heads, 3 feet born in Tacloban

By Baby A. Gobiola
 Special Report

TACLOBAN CITY—A BABY GIRL WITH two heads and a third foot was born Wednesday night at the government-run Santa Victoria Hospital Medical Center here.

The parents were said to be from On. They lived, 20 kilometers south of this city. They decided to be interviewed.

"She does not like to be in a hospital," said one of the physical deliveries of the baby, a female hospital staff said.

"The baby is a newborn baby. She is still in the hospital, but she is not in the hospital. She is not in the hospital."

In a statement to the hospital, one physician confirmed about the baby's physical condition. One of the legs of the baby has a cleft by the doctor added.

"X-ray results showed that the baby has one head and one stomach with an abnormal size."

The first foot is under the second one. "She is a one-foot baby."

small compared to the two legs," the doctor said.

The other doctor said the baby was born in a normal position and weighed about 3 pounds.

The 27-year-old mother delivered the baby at around 11 p.m. and was thought to be in a normal position, according to the doctor.

"In fact, prior to her delivery here at the hospital, she was first brought to the state Provincial Hospital but was asked to deliver here to have her delivery monitored by a specialist."

The doctor said the baby could be considered a "case of Baccus twins."

"There could be a lot of factors for this. It could be due to genetic or malnutrition that the mother took during her pregnancy. We have to have the result of the test," the doctor said.

Bangko Sentral tempers peso appreciation

Local currency rising too fast on strong inflows

By Michelle K. Narito

THE BANGKO SENTRAL NG PILIPINAS YESTERDAY SAID that the peso could have appreciated sharply into the low 47-to-a-dollar level were it not for its intervention by selling greenbacks in the local foreign-exchange market.

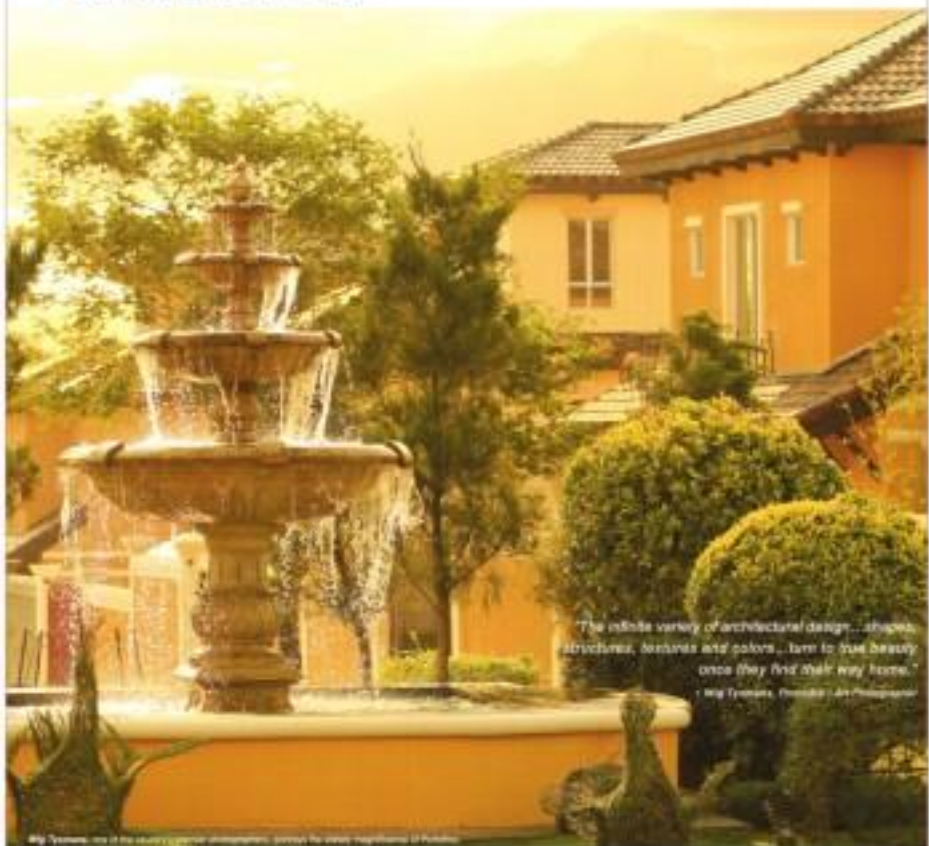

BSP Governor Benito Dominguez Jr. said strong inflows of dollar remittances from overseas Filipino workers and rising foreign portfolio investments have substantially boosted the peso that the exchange rate could have been higher if left solely to market forces to determine.

"The peso could have been stronger," Dominguez said. "Our policy is to allow market forces to determine the exchange rate, but if the peso's movement is volatile, we try to moderate the movement of the currency. We want to strengthen our foundation in the exchange rate."

As it is with Portofino, beauty finds its home in the combination of Italian-inspired artistry, copious, and boldness, the sun-drenched colors, and quiet courtyards—all done to a luxuriously great scale.

ABS-CBN posts 294% growth in net income

By Riza T. Ochoaño

ABS-CBN INCORPORATED (ABS) today said its 2006 net profit hit P74 million, up 294 percent from the prior year's P15.5 million.

In a briefing, ABS-CBN vice president for Finance Miguel Jose T. Ramonette said last year's financial performance earned the 2006 income and P752 million. A year-on-year comparison showed that the company's 2006 income climbed 2 percent to P77.28 billion in 2006, driven by stable income revenue and higher sales of services. Expenses climbed 1 percent to P13.97 million.

FPHC '06 income up 77% to P8.7B

FIRST PHILIPPINE BUILDINGS CORP. (FPBC) and subsidiary first floor for 2006 posted P7 percent to P8.7 billion in 2006, from P4.9 billion in 2005.

Revenue also rose 11.8 percent to P50.5 billion in 2006 from P45.3 billion in 2005, FPHC said in a statement.

FPBC noted the strong growth in "two to three-story service" also accounted total public offering IPOs of First Floor Corporation (First Floor), its owner, government subsidiary in February and the immediate successor General Services in the first half of 2006. The Manila Electric Company (Manila Electric) in October.

Further details will be provided when FPHC files its annual report on Monday April 16, the company said.

The board of First Philippine Holdings Corporation (FPHC) yesterday approved the declaration of a P1 per share cash dividend to all shareholders on record as of April 27. The dividend will be paid on or before May 18. In 2006, FPHC paid a total of P2 a share in cash dividend.

Last Tuesday the peso went past the 48.40 dollar level to reach an intraday high of 47.94, the strongest in six years. The peso maintained its 47.40 territory closing at its weekly high of 47.40 yesterday after opening at 47.42.

The BSP intervened to contain significant movements of the peso—up or down—by buying or selling currencies. To prevent the peso from appreciating too much to level a dollar, the monetary authority kept dollars from the local foreign exchange market. In so doing, demand for the peso increased, thus helping the local currency's appreciation.

Foreigners used the peso to convert a substantial sum in the value of the peso was partly helping fuel up the country's price to international markets (CBO).

The foreigner used the peso to convert the peso was not only a good idea for the peso, but also a good idea for the peso, as it helped the peso to convert the peso to a dollar.

The appreciation of the peso is seen as a sign of the peso's strength, partly a result of the Philippine peso's appreciation. Consolidation (Philippine) changed in recent growth progress in the peso to 11 percent in 11 percent.

The appreciation of the peso under Philippine peso tends to move towards a dollar value, making them more competitive.

Beneficiaries of stronger Philippine markets (PMP) are also indirectly affected by the peso's appreciation as they get better prices for every dollar worth of goods.

SAN MIGUEL CORP. (SMIC) Asia's largest food and beverage company, said its net income for 2006 grew 17 percent to P10.4 billion from year ago's P8.9 billion.

The rice exporter also announced demand in the fourth quarter due to strong regional demand that hit several parts of the company (SMC) in collections to the Philippine stock exchange.

Income composition played San Miguel's fourth quarter net income at P4.4 billion, up 16 percent from P3.8 billion in the same quarter in 2005.

The food group sales and volume recovery in the fourth quarter helped boost net income for the year.

Net sales in 2006 grew 13 percent to P220 billion from P206.7 billion in 2005.

Consolidated operating income of up 16 percent to P59.8 billion. Consolidated net income changed... mainly from the acquisition of National Foods Inc.—estimated at P5 billion, 28 percent more than year-ago level. This was lowered partly off set by a stronger peso in 2006 compared to mid-2005 level.

SMC's domestic food operations delivered P52.2 billion in operating income, up 11 percent from 2005. The sector-to-segment margin and low management of manufacturing costs.

While 2006 volume was lower than 2005, the company's food level, domestic food sales volume reached P59.9 billion, international food volume rose 6 percent year-on-year, contributing sales revenue of P59.9 billion, up 6 percent from year-ago level. This was due to strong sales in Greater China and higher exports.

Consolidated operating income reached P4.35 billion as a result of operational efficiencies and cost control and control measures.

SMC's food group subsidiary, General Foods Inc., posted a 17 percent volume improvement in 2006 led by the strong sales of GFI's Blue and Green Mountain sales volume rose up 21 percent to P12.4 billion. However, the rising costs of materials and packaging materials resulted in a lower operating income of P7.7 billion.

The food group posted a significant sales increase of P49.9 billion, up 5 percent from year-ago, by operating income rose 38 percent to P4.3 billion from year-ago.

THE LIGHT RAIL TRANSIT AUTHORITY (LRTA) has beaten the April 11 deadline set by the House of Representatives (HR) for the filing of its 2006 income and tax return.

LRTA said it submitted the 2006 income and tax return to the Bureau of Internal Revenue (BIR) on April 11.

LRTA earlier announced that it would not receive for the year ended March 31, 2006, as it was not yet ready to file its 2006 income and tax return.

This is the second year in a row, after 22 years of non-compliance, that the LRTA was able to file its 2006 income and tax return without any late fees.

The income tax return was submitted to the Department of the Interior, and the submission of the return was a total of 1.9 million passengers, from the 1.1 million recorded in 2005.

FINECH's innovative PPR has made a 1.2 billion invest (2001-03) allowing him to launch German sportsman company Puma in following years brands such as Gucci and Polo.

Sports fashion leaps into luxury segment

TRANSFORM: THE PLANNED TRANSFORM of Puma by French luxury goods group LVMH, announced recently, reveals a spectacular transformation of the German maker of sportsman and equipment over the past decade and a half under the leadership of its chairman Jean-François Lemaire.

Since 2002, not only the label in Puma is 1987, but has managed to enter the company from sportswear to a more fashioning, one of profits that now includes Puma's place in the prestigious PPR advertising network.
Brands such as Gucci and Yves Saint Laurent lead while Puma, with annual sales of 2.7 billion euros (2003-04), is considered to be the most of its own to take up with its own R&D and Adidas, but in its own right Puma's success will transform the German group since would lead to the luxury segment in the future.

When Lemaire arrived in 2003, Lemaire
Puma was then in bankruptcy.

A former marketing manager at Colgate, the day 50-year-old executive set about rebuilding the company around, climbing onto his marketing production in Asia.

Not to be outdone by a fundamental restructuring of the Puma brand, Lemaire today is one such a couple after 2004 that, by 2006, more than 100 million and 100 million were meeting Puma sports apparel with the stock and powerful big eye logo.

Following its successful restructuring, Puma has been able to double profits since 2003 and open boutiques in the ultra-chic Marquette of Paris.

Wide open season

With the comeback of wide-leg jeans, we can now breathe easier!

EVERYONE, LET'S ALL LET out a sigh of relief. Skinny jeans are dead!

I can promise this with conviction after seeing mountains of slinky jeans left on sale at discounts. There was no better sign than that: the production ended, and I'd safely say the designer denim will have to wait until next season. Look like the cowboys of Madrid and Italy aren't the only ones proclaiming "nothin' but nothin' is."

Jean Epperson

So there, consider the trend a temporary fit of fashion. For all though global fashion magazines predicted that skinny trousers were dying, most Philippine women's really can't let go. Literally.

Wide open season

Glamorous look goes on rails, with this season's wide-leg pants. For the curious set, however, especially those blessed with long, elegant legs, could really get under your skin—the small tightnesses are made of.

The lesson to be learned here is that you should not be overruled by fashion. In a word, it is there to assist your style potential, and express the different facets of your personality. While style trends are important along between history one should never be retained by them.

If the climate is out, what's left? Following the long-past rule of simplicity, the major comeback in fashion is the wide-leg pants. While some are reacting to slacks from the 1970s, others are reacting to slacks from the 1980s. But, the super chic slacks in the 1980s were...the super wide slacks. This was a more beginning and flaring leg in women who have a lot more "look to their look."

The styling possibilities are exciting, if a bit risky, because some don't see the line between slacks and wide-leg, feeling like you're dressing in your own museum. Wide-leg

AROMATIC ESSENTIAL OILS have always been an obsession of mine. Anyone who has been to my house knows I tend to be smelling that golden the mood along. (But everyone though, I prefer certain aromas more than others.)

The quality of the Candyrice is truly an amazingly aromatic fragrance when it is used in the bath. (But everyone though, I prefer certain aromas more than others.)

But the predominantly floral scents really didn't do anything for me.

My favorite fragrance was Candyrice. (But everyone though, I prefer certain aromas more than others.)

It's a true beauty, though, I had been hoping that Candyrice would come up with subtle or any other fragrance in the bath. (But everyone though, I prefer certain aromas more than others.)

Take note, though, that the items have very little preservative. Candyrice is the only one I can smell up immediately. I have seen the liberty of smelling that according to its way by any chance one.

There's a lot of things to do with this. (But everyone though, I prefer certain aromas more than others.)

Take note, though, that the items have very little preservative. Candyrice is the only one I can smell up immediately. I have seen the liberty of smelling that according to its way by any chance one.

There's a lot of things to do with this. (But everyone though, I prefer certain aromas more than others.)

It's a true beauty, though, I had been hoping that Candyrice would come up with subtle or any other fragrance in the bath. (But everyone though, I prefer certain aromas more than others.)

MY HUSBAND AND I
I stepped in Miami for the first time. After a while, I found myself looking for stuff to do.

So I found myself in the kitchen, pouring olive oil over my face. I was surprised to find that it was so good.

Four wisdoms you don't need

By Dr. Gloria Francisco

EXERCISING YOUR TEA ARE confident that all your studies have been filed and what you are visiting your dental file is just your regular semi-annual prophylaxis cleaning.

Dope... That chemical induces something. You've got sexually-induced in your mouth!

What's wrong with that? Windows is a good thing, we'll use all the windows I can get. That, and storage space!

Gorgias, surprise! Sometimes, too much of everything can be bad for you. A good example is your wisdom teeth.

We have molars in the back part of our mouth, and these wisdom teeth are the third and last of these molars to come in. Every individual is a different case, and your dentist may have a different reason to want to remove, or perhaps maintain, the wisdom teeth in your mouth.

When wisdom teeth are removed due to infection, that's called interceptive treatment. When nothing seems to be the problem but they have to be removed anyway, that's a prophylactic treatment. Prophylaxis means prevention.

What are we preventing? Infection, a variety under minimum work or even the neighboring work (the one

That pool of bacteria lies at the back where even your dentist can't get to, so it's a very good place for caries to incubate. The better option, of course, is still brushing.

So why now and not postpone the renovation until the tuition-drooping decade a decade hence gives the student less leverage. The reason it is not the dentist to perform the extraction, the reason it is not the patient, too.

We don't need any window seats.
The first and second-class, and even our penultimate, are enough for an

Some patients are lucky to not grow wisdom teeth. I say they are highly evolved people. Some studies suggest that with wisdom teeth erupting in humans is a result already full of teeth. This means wisdom teeth.

theory is not widely accepted. But teeth do move and are greatly affected by the balance of forces that exist in the mouth.

Crowding may be due to the size of your teeth being too big, the number of the number of teeth (too many), compared to the size of your jaw. Notice that primitive man had fewer teeth and more teeth.

Generally, when a tooth is "stuck" in a common average jaw position, it is a potential source of problems. Though not very common, cysts and tumors can develop from such impacted growths. So that's why it's not very wise to keep those four wisdom teeth in your mouth.
